

Do not authorize cell phone use on commercial aircraft.

Such use constitutes a significant annoyance to all passengers.

Avoid the unknown possible interference. It is prudent to do now and is prudent in the future.

Avoid possible health risks of someone next to a passenger holding the instrument near the head of a "non-user".

Airliners are too, too confined to permit use of cell phones.